I hired Federal Prison Consultants almost two years ago. I have found them to be very knowledgeable and very helpful and very passionate in helping people who are being sentenced and have been in prison. Their compassion also extends to the families of inmates.

They always return calls and emails and they work very hard to keep on top of the case they were retained. They are with you from the beginning of the sentence and stay with you until the time has come for release.

Federal Prison Consultants also are here to help with inmate matters that require outside assistance and know what is needed and who to contact to get answers from the Dept. of Federal Prisons.

I have found Mr. Ed Bales to be honest with me and help me when my family member needs his guidance. It does help to have someone to talk to about the Prison system and the answers may not be what we want to hear but what you will hear is, why something is or is not possible and how to go about the best possible way to have a case heard by the right officials so that the inmates best interests are being presented.

Sincerely, Pam B.
